

Wisconsin Wood Residue Brokers Scott Bowe and Terry Mace

Wood residues have become a valuable raw material for a number of Wisconsin companies. In past decades, materials such as sawdust and bark were considered a waste product and disposed of in landfills. Today, wood residues are used in such products as landscape mulch, paper, and engineered wood products. Table 1 below lists the Wisconsin companies currently engaged in the wood residue market. If you would like more information, please contact Scott Bowe or Terry Mace.
